

Josette Seraphine

SINGER / SONGWRITER
GUITARIST

Durham, North Carolina

THE ARTIST

Josette Seraphine is a singer-songwriter and multi-instrumentalist from Durham, North Carolina, whose original music combines heartfelt storytelling, emotionally driven lyrics, and a sound shaped by an eclectic range of musical influences.

With a love for everything from '90s alternative rock and emo to indie folk, roots, and bluegrass, Josette draws inspiration from artists including Green Day, My Chemical Romance, and Taylor Swift. Her songwriting places lyrics at the heart of each composition, exploring personal experiences and emotions through the interplay of words and melody.

Josette's musical journey began at age six with a ukulele. Six months later, she picked up an electric guitar and never looked back. By ten, she was performing live, bringing an infectious energy to the stage with her Flying V guitar. Years of performing, musical study, and theatrical experience have helped shape her into a confident, expressive artist with a passion for connecting with audiences through music.

Her performance experience includes appearances at Cat's Cradle, The Local 506, the North Carolina State Fair, Sharp Nine Gallery, and numerous festivals and community events throughout North Carolina. A regular performer at Eno River Farms, Josette has also begun sharing her original compositions with live audiences.

After beginning her songwriting journey two years ago, Josette has increasingly focused on developing her own musical voice. In 2026, she was selected for a solo showcase at the Carrboro Songwriters Festival, marking another milestone in her journey as an emerging songwriter.

Now concentrating on her career as a solo artist, Josette is working toward recording her debut album, with plans for a release in 2027.
